“We are a DRINKING club with a RUNNING problem..”

Another Hash Saturday, but not just any Hash Saturday. A hash Saturday that sees the return of the “Three Butts”. Yes that infamous Group that infiltrated the POSHHH some years ago. Now before some of you start getting your knickers in a twist, I am talking about “D Original 3 Butts”, because they did have some appendages/stand-ins at different times.

It was believed in most circles that this group like so many others had faded into oblivion. Groups like the Bois Bande Boys, Hasherettes, Havesome Crew, Arima Posse, LLP to name a few. This mindset was generally as result of the fact that two of the three members had been directed by their spouses to play a major role in the upbringing of the children. The truth is that their role really was to be the driver to drop and pickup the children from their various activities. So it was, that having agreed to set a run, they rearranged the drop and pickup schedule to make the run possible. We are thankful to them for this or rather we are thankful to their spouses for allowing them. The other member has body parts issues and has been seen in the Bamboo looking for a replacement knee among other parts.

With good weather and a good turn out the HM called the hash to order which really is not possible as there is never order on a hash except for drinks orders. The usual obtuse (Tanty Barbs for you) statements about no mud, no water blah blah blah rolled off the tongue of the “One kneed One” and then we were off.

NEXT RUN: #847— 12th Oct, 2013

Hares: Simon, Alastair, Natalie

Easy directions:

Coming from the west : Drive east on the Churchill Roosevelt Highway till you get to Wallerfield. Do not make any turn offs , carry on till the highway becomes 2 lanes, till it becomes a gravel road. You have reached the hash site! Virgin territory!

Shark and Bake will be sold after the hash.

The Run

So the pack was led off by Devon, who is still having a major challenge of completing the hash before persons much senior to him, to the right and up a dirt road that led to an X. The correct trail was across the mossy drain that we seem to traverse every time we do a run in the area. Then we were onto a newly cut dirt road whose direction was up. At this point we were joined by the most visible Butt who took pleasure in encouraging our ascent. Knowing this hare's penchant for ensuring that false trails are not ignored I started the ascent with some apprehension which was well placed as about three minutes into the climb I saw the front pack coming back down and the Hare with a pleased look on his face.

So we went off to a trail to our left which brought us back to within sight of the cars and then a climb through some recently moved earth onto a road. Homey at this point was limping as he had pulled something, not sure whether he pulled a muscle or a bone and headed to the cars. On reaching this point the entire pack set off on a trail to the right because the visible Hare by his presence encouraged people up that trail which was an extremely long false trail. This false trail, whose correct trail was a back check, was at least a quarter mile. In response to the abuse from hashers, as this false trail was uphill, the visible one placed the blame on the One Kneed one for the length of that false trail.

So we then headed down to the Savannah or open field where cars park for O'Farrell fete and then north towards the trail that would take you to Maracas. Thankfully that trail was a false trail as the possibilities of coming off that trail from that point would have been very challenging and the less challenging trail was much further on. At this point the 3rd Butt was seen for the first time since the start. We meandered our way through some trails to the left of the trail to Maracas until we came to the northern side of the village.

We were now on the road in the village just east of the quarry. This road looked very inviting and hashers made their way along this road which was down hill to find an X. The correct trail was half way down and to the left and back onto the same road beyond the X. At this point I said to the most recent newlywed that we will be going into the quarry and so it was that the correct trail took us towards the quarry to the ridge overlooking the quarry and then back onto the road to the Gasparillo Road junction. As we traversed the ridge at the top of the quarry we could see some notable SCBs who went straight along the road bypassing the loop to the top of the quarry.

At Gasparillo junction the site of the HHH signs was enticing but was not the correct trail. The correct trail, being off to the right and up and around the back of the home of the Butt that lives in the area.

It was a decent run and proved that the Butts can still do it, inclusive of some virgin territory which many thought we would not experience on this run. So it was then time for Hashers to do what they do best, imbibe alcoholic beverages of the beer kind and exchange pleasant banter. As has happened on occasion the banter in one instance led to flared tempers. This was not allowed to get out of hand (reported speech) and the two adversaries agreed to disagree with much male posturing (more reported speech). Suffice it to say that the evening proceedings was not unduly affected.

The Hash hush was called and the formalities attended to inclusive of the Poofter. The Poofter award is being hogged by a husband and wife duo and they were both nominated again. The wife however showed no respect for a presiding HM by pulling down his shorts repeatedly. This behavior is not condoned and as such at a meeting of the Old Farts and Ex HMs, a decision was taken to give the presiding HM permission to Award the Poofter Shirt to the wife whenever there is no clear nominee for the balance of his reign.

As we limed and imbibed after the Down Downs a male hasher indicated that he had Vodka and offered a drink to the group liming on Marlon's pickup. A few of us took up the offer but it was a one-shot offer as it was done after about 5 people got a drink. It turned out to be an end of vodka that the man offers as though it was a whole bottle. (No names called)

Hash Christmas—December

As we limed and imbibed after the Down Downs a male hasher indicated that he had Vodka and offered a drink to the group liming on Marlon's pickup. A few of us took up the offer but it was a one-shot offer as it was done after about 5 people got a drink. It turned out to be an end of vodka that the man offers as though it was a whole bottle. (No names called)

The after lime moved to Baya Bar where a small group descended and headed straight for the food section. A female hasher (Now let me say upfront the lady is attractive or rather pleasing to the eyes.) who had left us and went home and showered and returned was well known at this particular bar. It is my belief that her presence contributed to us being attended to fairly quickly at this bar. She was certainly at home at this bar and had the attention of a number of male hashers. (Did I mention that she is pleasing to the eyes, I can hear the comments of other female hashers. But for the record some of you are pleasing to the eyes also) This attention for some was because of her influence with the establishment and for others it was because she was female. We all know how the Hash tracker dogs operate. So, there was this female hasher sitting with male hashers and getting attention from the ones seated and others.

Contrary to popular belief hashers do not only drink beer. One hasher who reportedly was having a female over to his place that night was seen drinking Guinness not sure if it helped him or even if the female did come over. If she did not, he would have surely slept that night looking up at the ceiling

I did not stick around too late but I am sure that those who stayed did enjoy themselves as evidenced by pictures posted by the Male hasher who posts the most pictures on Facebook and that person is not Ashe.

POOFTER— Michelle

And then it was the down down....the hares had their usual down down and then the virgins....16 of them.

Virgins: : Ashley, Shilinie, Calvin, Charles, Laura, Emma, Arianne, Ariane, Afiya, Andrew, Reynold, Angela, Quint, Andrew, Gerrard, Jadon

New Shoes: Dane, Jason and Mark

POOFTER Nominees:

Nicole: For announcing that her shades were lost and a set of hashers stopped to assist only to find it still on her head.

Michelle: Being early for a run for the first time....her husband Allan was a hare!

Winner: And of course....it was Michelle and rightfully so for disrespecting the HM
